PROPERTY OWNERS SURPRISED.

A Man Returns to San Francisco After Twenty Years Absence and Claims Real Estate Worth Millions.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The sudden appearance of William Henry Allen, who was supposed for twenty years to be dead, surprised a great many property owners, because Allen at one time owned lands in the heart of the city now valued at $14,000,000. The records do not show that the property ever passed out of his hands, and the present owners hold under the statute of limitations, having had adverse possession for nearly a generation. His appearance was simultaneous with the filing of a quit-claim deed to half of his interest in the lands, the grantee being a lawyer named John W. Watson. The property claimed is that on which the handsome Crocker building, the Palace Hotel, the Chronicle and many other building stand. Attorney Watson, speaking for his client, says that in 1848 S. Callender received deeds to the lands in questions from I. M. Leavenworth, then Alcalde and Chief Magistrate of San Francisco. Callender was then Allen's brother-in-law and debtor, and the lands were of little value. Callender deeded the lands to Allen in liquidation of a debt. Allen went back to his home in New York, and nothing more being heard of him he was supposed to have died without deeding his property to anyone else, but there was reason for his disappearance. After reaching New York he was hurt in an accident, and he lost his mind for the twenty years that have been to him as a dream. He has been harmlessly insane, then his impairment passed away and he came to a realization of the fact that he was old and gray and one-third of his life a blank. With sanity came memory, and he bethought him of his property here, which had increased to millions, while he had wandered a day dreamer in the realm of the insane. Against such a man the statute of limitations cannot be pleaded. Attorney Watson says there will soon be a big suit as a result of Allen's return.

The campaign will be directed against the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, which they claim would be disastrous to the business interests of the country. Both wings of the combination will present that view of the question while pretending to differ on other matters, so long as there is hope of keeping the people divided. Failing to do that they will unite against the Silver men, and it is not at all improbable that Cleveland and Sherman will vote the same Presidential ticket at the next election.

THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

To-day is the thirtieth anniversary of the assassination of President Lincoln. Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, sent out the following regarding the tragedy, the day after it occurred:

About 9:30 last evening, President Lincoln, while sitting in his private box in Ford's Theatre, with Mrs. Lincoln, Major Rathbone and Mrs. Harris, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President. The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a dagger, and made his escape. The pistol ball entered the back of the President's head, inflicting a mortal wound. The President did not recover consciousness and died at 7:25 o'clock this morning. The assassin was J. Wilkes Booth, an obscure actor.

This news created the greatest excitement and deepest regret throughout the country. General Lee had surrendered five days before, the war which had arrayed father against son, and brother against brother, since Fort Sumter was fired upon four years before, was over and President Lincoln was preparing to restore Civil Government in Virginia. That his policy would have been lenient there is no doubt, as he was a Southern man by birth and naturally one of the most kind hearted. He did not believe in secession, never admitted that the rebellious States were out of the Union, but held that the functions of the civil authorities were simply suspended in those States, and the great object in suppressing the Rebellion was to restore them.

Vice President Johnson, who became President upon the death of Lincoln, attempted, it was said, to carry out the policy of Lincoln, but he met with violent opposition from the radicals of the party which elected him. He was impeached by the House of Representatives and when tried before the Senate, was saved the disgrace of being convicted of high crimes and misdemeanors by such men as Senators, Messers of Maine, and Grimes of Iowa, who were the founders of the Republican party.

Abraham Lincoln, the martyred President, was noted for his homely ways and expressions. Nature endowed him with a large fund of common sense, upon which he drew as occasion required, and many of his sayings are household words, wherever the English language is spoken.

The Episcopal citizens of Boston felt that they ought to call upon Dr. Lansing and demand an apology for the statements he made about the President being drunk. The President was informed of this and telegraphed that while Dr. Lansing's apology is an aggravation of his original offense, he is willing that his further punishment should be left to his conscience, and the contempt of his neighbors and the American people. This shows that the President can be generous on occasions.

A MADDENED MORPHINE EATER.

He Enters a Surgeon's Office and Attempts to Carve the Proprietor.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Dr. W. O. Wilcox, Demonstrator of Anatomy in the California Medical College, had a narrow escape from death to-day at the hands of a maddened morphine eater. When he entered his office he found waiting in the patients' sitting room a young man whose appearance suggested morphine indulgence. He said he wished to consult me privately, said Dr. Wilcox. Afterwards, as I do not care to have morphine fiends among my patients, I told him to go elsewhere. He followed me into the consulting room, despite my protests. I threatened to remove him forcibly, whereupon he burst into tears begging for one shot of morphine. I hesitated, and his manner changed from supplicating to threatening. The next moment I was in the presence of a madman. He seized a surgeon's knife lying on the table and said he would cut my heart out. He tried to stab me and I struggled to get the knife from him. Finally I seized a bottle of chloroform and dashed some in his face. He stopped for a moment, and this gave me a chance to saturate a handkerchief with chloroform, which I pressed to his face. He sank unconscious, and I injected morphine. When he recovered he had forgotten the affair.

A Sacred Musical Treat
One of the leading features of the Easter evening services at the Unity Congregation, in Library Hall, this evening will be the singing of a recitative solo and trio from Handel's sacred oratorio of "The Messiah."
I—Recitative, "Behold I tell you a mystery."
II—Solo, "The trumpet shall sound."
III—Trio, "Lo! Thy glory fills the heavens."
W. T. Roberts, first tenor; Tom Evans, second tenor, and R. W. Parry, bass.

The last public singing of Mr. Evans was at the memorial obsequies of the late Bishop Manogue of this diocese, held here in the Catholic Church March 5th, when he sang with great effect the sacred solo, "The Holy City; the New Jerusalem."

This account of the requiem services with the names of the principal singers copied from the JOURNAL are to hand from the London News and the Banner and Times of Wales, published by Rev. Thos. Gee at Denbigh, North Wales, the latter being the national paper of that section of Great Britain's empire.

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HEDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "I cannot impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the coast for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

THE CARSON MINT STEAL.

The Official Figures of the Shortage—The Assistant Melted and Refiner Arrested.

CARSON CITY, April 13, 1895. John T. Jones, Assistant Melted and Refiner at the Carson Mint, was arrested at 3 p. m. by U. S. Marshal Humphreys and brought before U. S. Commissioner T. D. Edwards, charged with the shortage figured out by Inspector Mason, and by him reported to headquarters at Washington, amounting to the specified sum of $77,000.

This action was taken in response to telegraphic advice from Washington. Bail was fixed at $25,000, and at 6 p. m. was furnished, John Rosser, L. F. Bell, ex-Governor Colorado and H. Yerington promptly standing in as bondsmen.

Pending this arrangement Jones was let go on his own recognizance, and notwithstanding the bad business time of the day and week, had no difficulty. He said at once that he would secure bondsmen outside of "the ring" made notorious in the San Francisco papers, and he has them.

Somebody had to be arrested for a starter, and supplementary arrests will doubtless follow—Honey, of course, for one. Jones is simply called upon to raise and explain, if he can, this $77,000 shortage, which is all in his department, occurring under him or his predecessors. Anyhow he has to tell what he knows or don't know, and the matter will be properly brought before the inquisitory Government tribunal.

It is gratifying to have the actual shortage definitely and officially stated at last. The basis of these figures is not stated, but if a little quiet information from the inside is correct, the figures will decrease. But as we have before predicted they do not reach to $90,000 or $100,000 claimed by even local newspapers.

Ah, well, the matter has come to a focus at last, and we shall see what we shall see.

In the tax suit of the State vs. the S. P. R. R. Co., for unpaid taxes on surveyed and unpatented lands for the year 1889, on motion of District Attorney Norcross Messrs. Summerfield and Torreyson were entered as associate counsel on the part of the State.

HOW TO SEE HEAVEN.

A Neat Little Story With a Moral Appended.

The Parson's Guide tells this neat little story which will doubtless be appreciated by every intelligent reader:

"A minister one day preached on 'Heaven.' Next morning he was going down town and met one of his old wealthy members. The brother stopped the preacher and said: 'Pastor, you preached a good sermon about Heaven, but you never told me where Heaven is.' 'Ah,' said the pastor, 'I am glad of an opportunity this morning. I have just come from the hilltop yonder. In that cottage is a member of your church. She is in bed with fever, her two little children are sick in the other bed, she hasn't a bit of coal or a stick of wood, nor flour, nor sugar, nor any bread. If you will go down town and buy five dollars' worth of things—nice provisions—and send them up to her, and then go up there and say, 'my sister, I have brought you these nice provisions in the name of our Lord and Savior,' then ask for a bible and read the twenty-third Psalm, and then get down on your knees and pray. If you don't see Heaven before you get through I'll pay the bill."

A Profitable Transaction.

A Rochester, Ill., paper gives an interesting item concerning a profitable live stock deal made by John A. Dickinson of Nashville, Mo., a brother of our Frank Dickinson. He shipped 180 head of fine cattle averaging 1,550 pounds each in weight, also 200 hogs of about 300 pounds each, to the Chicago market. The cattle brought him 6 1/2 cts. per pound and the hogs 4 1/2 cts. The stock was of Mr. Dickinson's own raising, and the profits on the sale amounted to $3,000. The stock was fed on flax straw for the "rough feed," and also fed grain.

A Pute Indian shot and killed his wife, at Lovelock. She intervened with a card game he was playing with three other bucks, and he revenged himself by sending a bullet from his rifle through her body. The Indian was arrested and held by Justice Young to answer to the charge of murder.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE NATIONAL SILVER PARTY.

Some Suggestions Relative to Organization.

The organization of the Silver party, in other States will be materially aided if the silver men of Nevada will place themselves in communication with the Silver party committees in the various States. Especially is this true of California, where many former Nevadans now reside, and who ought to favor free silver coinage. No friend of Nevada should refuse to aid a movement in which the State is so vitally interested, and every person who knows a Nevada residing in California, likely to be favorable to the Silver party, should send the name and address of such person to Hon. Enoch Pepper, Los Angeles, Cal., who is Chairman of the State Central Committee of the Silver Leagues in that State. The State Central and other provisional committees of the Silver party in California should be made up of the true and tried friends of silver and as there are a number of vacancies yet to be filled from the fifty-seven counties, and at large, there should be no apathy on the part of Nevadans to see that their friends are at the helm. It only costs a postage stamp to send the name of a friend to the State Committee and a number of names can be sent in the same envelope. A strong organization makes votes, corrects your friend, and wins the elections. By votes only will free coinage of silver be secured.

HAS HONEY PEACHED?

A Rumor That He Has Given the Mint Scandalous Away.

It was rumored here yesterday that James Honey, who was employed at the Carson mint in the good old days "when everything went for the party," has not left the country as had been reported, but on the contrary has given away all that he knew about stealing at the Carson mint. Honey was simply a helper at the mint, and probably was not implicated in the big steal. He was only a small fish in the puddle. Some of the large ones, whose salary did not exceed $2,500 or $3,000 a year, are said to have lost over a year's salary at the gambling table on several occasions. This led even the gamblers to wonder how they could afford it. Probably it will be explained in the course of time. Maybe they won several thousand dollars at some sittings.

JUDGMENT FOR PLAINTIFF.

George Watt Gets a Verdict Against the Nevada Central.

In 1893 a fire occurred on George Watt's ranch, 35 miles north of Austin, through which the Nevada Central railroad runs. Nine hundred and seventy six tons of hay, a hay press and pasture were burned. Watt sued the railroad and the case was tried in Austin last September, before Judge Fitzgerald, in the District Court and early in January the case was submitted to him. He filed his decision Wednesday giving judgment for Watt, for $3,760 for the hay, $200 for the hay press, and $100 for the pasture, in all $4,060.

The Remenyi Concert was quite well patronized last night considering the very disagreeable evening. The numbers of the program were well rendered and the audience showed its appreciation by enthusiastic applause. Had the weather permitted there would doubtless have been a large house.

AN ENJOYABLE PLAY.

Home Talent in Damon and Pythias.

There has been a fine sale of seats at Nasby's for this sublime play, which will be given under the auspices of Amity Lodge, No. 8, Knights of Pythias, by an excellent cast under the direction of Mr. E. S. Laurie. Mrs. Katie Laurie, an actress of great merit, will play the part of Calanthe. Of her in this part the San Jose Mercury says: "The pretty and talented Mrs. Katie Laurie captivated the audience by her womanly portrayal of the fair Calanthe. It was forceful without being overdrawn, and evinced feeling without affectation. Her efforts were rewarded by the whispered encomiums of her audience."

"THE TALLY-HO."

"The Tally-ho" is all "the go," You see it every where, On street and car, both near and far, 'Tis worn by maidens fair.

It's nice, unique, it's light and neat, Its appearance simply charming, It makes the girls all look so sweet, When out on a promenade.

It can be had in black and white, Brown, tan and navy The girls all say—"It's out of sight," "Too cute" and "Just a beauty."

Now if you're anxious for a beau, And want to look quite "chic," Just buy one with a trolly, O, And you'll catch one mighty quick.

Oh! golly girl! it's just "the string," The latest fad you bet, To have your "Dude" held by a thing, So ne'er away it can get.

There's not a girl, that e'er you meet, That does not say it's pretty, And if she laps some coin you bet, She'll buy one in a "jiffy."

For a "tally-ho," go to Miss Motley's.

Blood Made Pure

Eczema on Face, Neck and Hands Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured All Impurity.

Mr. Augustus O. Graham Tallahassee, Ind. Ter.

"Our son Augustus was very severely troubled with eczema. Sores broke out on his face, neck and hands, and the slightest scratch on his hands would break out in bad sores.

We persuaded him to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has been two or three months since he has been troubled. His hands are quite smooth. Our nephew, Edgar P. Shaver, who lives with us, was afflicted similarly, accompanied by scrofulous bunches on his neck. He has taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is now well. His skin is as smooth as any one could wish, and the eruptions on his neck have disappeared." Mrs. M. J. GRAHAM, Box 173, Tallahassee, Ind. Ter.
